For total exposure the exposures in the two categories are summed. 8) The VaR refers to the portfolio at the end of the month. 9) Net change in a scenario where all interest rates shifts +/-20 basis points. 10) Net change in a scenario where all credit default swap spreads shifts +/-10%. 11) Net change in a scenario where all equities and equities indices shifts +/-10%. 12) Net change in a scenario where all underlying volatilities in equity derivatives shifts +/-10 percentage points. ASSET MANAGEMENT CONCEPT

The Fund is a special fund which means it can have a more flexible investment mandate.

The Fund's target is to be fully invested in the special master fund Carve Master. The Fund invests at least 90 per cent of the value of the Fund in the special master fund Carve Master. The Fund and the special master fund have an absolute return target, which means that the funds aim to earn a profit in the long term, regardless of market fluctuations.

Assets of the Fund may be invested in transferable securities, money market instruments, units in collective investment undertakings, as well as deposits with credit institutions.

The special master fund invests primarily in equities, equity-related financial instruments and corporate bonds. The primary geographic focus is the Nordics/Europe followed by the United States.

The asset management activities of the special master fund Carve Master is based on an active research process, where business intelligence is an important part. The special master fund's research resources are concentrated mainly to companies and industries where the portfolio managers have long experience and to areas and situations where the portfolio managers believe that interesting valuations have arisen.

RISK MANAGEMENT

The fund management company seeks to ensure that the fund's average risk level, as measured by the annual standard deviation over a rolling twelve-month period, is kept at around 10–15 per cent. The fund aims at exploring possibilities to raise risks in periods of stress. At these occasions risk might be higher than the above mentioned range.

The board of the fund management company sets limits for the risks that the portfolio managers are allowed to take in their asset management activities. Analysis and control of market risks, using for example different Value-at-Risk models (VaR) are important parts of the portfolio manager's work.
